HTML5 & CSS3 Website Project

I am designing a website for a preschool- risingstars.com. It has four webpages- Home, Classes, Our Team and Contact. The website is primarily visited by families with young children of ages 1-5. The home page has the philosophy, and history of the center and special events. It also has a link to the contact page to get more info about discounts available. The classes webpage has a list of classes and a short description of what is focused in each class. The team webpage displays the director and the teachers with their qualification and experience as a grid. The contact webpage has hours of operation, telephone number, email id, address with map embedded and an interest form. The interest form has inputs like first name, last name, phone number, email id, and age of their child/children.
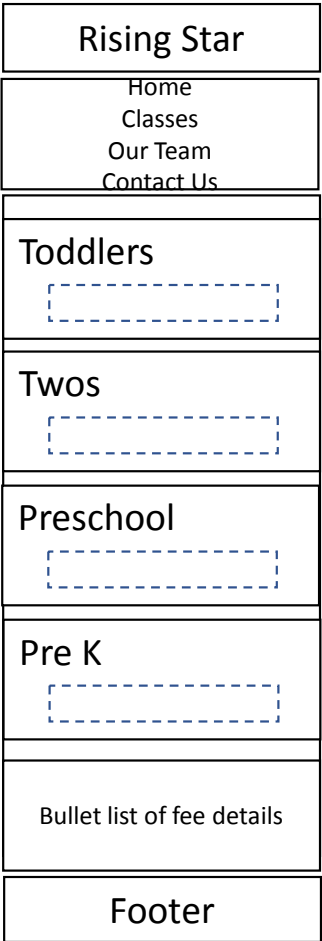

Site Map:
